Renowned Energy Expert to Present Free Talk in Monterey

“Winning the Oil Endgame”

Thursday, Dec. 7

7 p.m.

Irvine Auditorium, MIIS

Noted physicist, author and energy expert Dr. Amory Lovins will highlight his strategy for ending U.S. oil dependence in a free public talk Thursday, Dec. 7 at the Monterey Institute of International Studies (MIIS). The program will begin at 7 p.m. in the Irvine Auditorium.

His 29th book, Winning the Oil Endgame, Innovation for Profits, Jobs and Security, provides a roadmap for an oil solution. Lovins is a MacArthur Fellow and co-founder of the Rocky Mountain Institute, an independent, market-oriented, nonprofit applied research center.

His presentation is being sponsored by the NPS Cebrowski Institute for Innovation and Information Superiority, which fosters interdisciplinary projects that strengthen global security. Energy, a critical national security issue in the 21st century, is an emerging NPS and Cebrowski Institute research focus.

About the Naval Postgraduate School and Monterey Institute of International Studies

The Naval Postgraduate School is the nation's premier security research university, offering graduate, executive and professional education programs that meet the unique needs of the Navy and Department of Defense. NPS students come from all United States services and the services of more than 60 countries. For additional information, see <http://www.nps.edu>.

The Monterey Institute of International Studies, an affiliate of Middlebury College, is a private graduate institution located in Monterey, CA. It is at the forefront of international professional education, preparing students for global careers in the private, public, nonprofit and educational sectors. The Institute also offers graduate degrees in translation and interpretation, international policy studies and language teaching. The Institute's approximately 780 students come from nearly 60 countries. Further information about the Monterey Institute may be found at www.miis.edu.

Note: The opinions of Dr. Lovins do not necessarily reflect those of the Monterey Institute of International Studies, Naval Postgraduate School or Department of the Navy.
